LOWER MISSISSIPPI IN RAGING FLOOD

Levee Breaks and 20,000 Persons Will Be Homeless in a Few Hours—Warned by Horsemen, They May Save Their Lives.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Natchez, Miss., Feb. 15.—The main levee at Limerick Plantation unexpectedly broke today and the Mississippi river burst through a mile-wide gap over-flowing a vast area on the Louisiana side of the river. Indications were that fully 100 towns will be overflowed and 20,000 persons will be rendered homeless as the result of the break. Horsemen were sent out from near the river to interior towns in the path of the latest flood. The riders raced with the oncoming waters to warn the inhabitants of the low-lying sections of their danger. Damage to plantations in the neighborhood of the break already has been enormous, and other rural lands will be swept by the waters released by the big hole in the river wall. Tensas, Concordia, Madison, Franklin and Catahoula parishes were certain to be flooded. Among the larger cities doomed to heavy flood damage are St. Joseph, New Eton, Vidalia, Waterproof and Ferriday. Hundreds of persons warned by the Paul Reveres of the flood started at once to drive their livestock out of the danger zone. Within an hour after the break the river at Natchez had fallen considerably. The crevasse will relieve New Orleans and the other cities below of the flood menace that has been threatening them.

IMPRISONED BY FROZEN WATER PIPE

Quarantined for Diphtheria and Front Door Frozen Fast, Cedar Street Family is in a Predicament.

Being quarantined for diphtheria would seem to be trouble enough for any one, but when to that is added bursted water pipes in the house then it would seem that a person had enough trouble to last a life time. This is just to lead up to the unhappy experience of Mrs. Susan B. Hyatt, who resides at No. 52 Cedar street. She and her son have both been ill with diphtheria and neither has recovered sufficiently to be released from quarantine. Sunday night the intense cold that settled down over the city proved rather disastrous to the Hyatts for they were awakened early Monday morning by the flow of running water, which soon stopped. Investigation disclosed the fact that the water pipes that ran through the ceiling in the front hall over the front door had burst and that a stream of water had rushed down over the doorway and hall and frozen. An attempt to open the front door proved futile. The door had been frozen fast. The only means of leaving the house, without jumping through a window, was by way of the back door.

Mrs. Hyatt made every effort to attract the attention of neighbors and finally was successful and the neighbor called up the board of health and told of the difficulties being experienced by the Hyatts. Owing to the fact that the house was quarantined no plumber in the city dared to violate the quarantine and enter the house to fix the broken water pipes until given permission by the board of health.

Today Sanitary Inspector Dr. Harold Clarke visited the quarantined house and thoroughly fumigated the premises in the vicinity of where the plumbers have to work in repairing the damage done. As soon as the sanitary inspector had completed the work the plumbers got busy and repaired the damage to the pipes.

A MOST ELOQUENT LINCOLN ADDRESS

The Rev. Mgr. Reilly Proves Delightful Speaker at High School on Career and Characteristics of Martyred President—Judge Clearwater Presides.

Fully five hundred persons on Monday night enjoyed a masterly review of Abraham Lincoln by an authority on the subject, the Very Rev. Monsignor J. L. Reilly of Schenectady, who spoke in the high school auditorium on the martyred president, his characteristics and his innumerable lovable and human traits. A keen student of Lincoln, thoroughly conversant with his subject and most accurate in his quotations from state documents, the Rev. Monsignor proved a revelation to his hearers and the only fault found with his scholarly offering was its brevity. Members of the Knights of Columbus marched in a body to the school and the large auditorium was well filled at an early hour. The meeting opened with the singing of America under the direction of General Secretary George D. Beckwith, of the Y. M. C. A., with Harry P. Dodge at the piano. The stage was draped with two large American flags and a portrait of Lincoln, with flags and flowers arranged about it stood on an easel at the right. A delegation from Pratt Post, G. A. R., occupied seats on the stage with the Very Rev. Dean Hickey, rector of St. Mary's Church, and the Rev. Thomas B. Brown, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Judge A. T. Clearwater, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the speaker of the evening as a distinguished and eloquent scholar who had made a careful and critical study of the life and character of Lincoln. "He is a man who is famous," said Judge Clearwater, "for the care and devotion which he has given to the career of the martyred president and who is known also for his devotion to those principles for which Lincoln stood, liberty of speech, freedom of conscience, the cause of liberal education and the right of man to worship God according to his own concept. I have the honor of presenting my friend, Monsignor Reilly."

Monsignor Reilly was warmly received and at the outset expressed his embarrassment at the compliments paid to him. He capped the situation with a Lincoln story. "There has grown up around that immortal name," said the speaker, "such a wealth of biographical material as to make a veritable embarrassment of riches in the way of material for an address of this sort." Rather than any attempt at a recitation, Monsignor Reilly proceeded to make good his declaration. The first picture he gave was an external view of Lincoln and he cited innumerable anecdotes and references bearing out the homely appearance and ungainliness of the Kentucky youth who was destined to become a savior of the nation. "Abe as a baby looked like and other baby at first didn't improve much as he grew older," was one characterization of Dennis Hanks, a kinsman. "The taller never lived who could make Lincoln a suit of clothes that fitted," was a witticism of that period, said the speaker, and he depicted the caricatures of the president showing him casting the shadow of a lightning rod and other efforts of the cartoonists of the day. These and similar attacks of the time but served to illustrate the truth of the scripture "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country."

Most amusing anecdotes were wittily given by Father Reilly without number but it was on the serious side of Lincoln in later life that the speaker's marvelous memory and familiarity with state papers and problems showed to splendid advantage. The picture of Lincoln given by a delegate from this state to the convention which nominated him for the presidency as "a second-rate lawyer with only 32 books in his library," together with his partner's description of the martyred president as "the poorest reader and greatest thinker" he had ever known were mentioned by the speaker in laying stress on the fact that in all his life Lincoln had less than six months of actual schooling and even that was not continuous. The famous debates with Douglas when the homely logic of Lincoln punctured the fantastic sophistry of the "Little Giant," the troublous times of the civil war, the proclamation of emancipation whose reading to his cabinet was prefaced with a selection from Artemus Ward were all most entertainingly presented with a wealth of salient quotations from presidential messages that were marvels of accuracy and point. Sidelights upon Lincoln's differences with members of his cabinet, on the historic clash with Greeley, the attack of Wendell Phillips and the inner history of the impression made by the president upon the British ambassador, Lord Lyons, were all woven into coherent relation, fascinating in the ease with which it was presented. Of the speech at Gettysburg and the inaugural address, Monsignor Reilly related interesting anecdotes little known to the average student of Lincoln while on the religious side he laid much stress. Lincoln was accused of being an infidel, an atheist and an antislavery man, said the speaker, and while he never af-

ARCHBISHOP MUNDELEIN.

BELIEVE ANARCHIST ATTEMPTED TO POISON ARCHBISHOP, GOVERNOR AND OTHER NOTABLES.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The authorities here believe that an anarchist attempted to poison Archbishop Mundelein, Governor Dunne, Mayor Carter Harrison and other notables by putting arsenic into soup served at a banquet in the Archbishop's honor. Several of the guests were made violently ill while a score or more required the services of a physician after the banquet. A cook at the University Club, where the banquet was served, is missing, and a search of his room disclosed a complete chemical laboratory and a quantity of anarchistic literature. Archbishop Mundelein, the youngest archbishop of the United States, was installed in his diocese last week. He was formerly of Brooklyn.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF COMPANY M

The annual inspection and muster of Company M will take place at the armory Wednesday evening, February 16. Captain Frank L. Meagher having ordered the members of his command to appear at the armory on the above date fully uniformed, armed and equipped for this event.

Major Dayton, Assistant Inspector General, Division N. G. N. Y., Captain Townsend, U. S. A., detailed to the Third Brigade as Instructor Inspector, and Major Chandler, commander of the Third Battalion, of which Company M is a unit, will be the inspecting officers. The above officers will be at Catskill this evening inspecting Company E of the Second Battalion of the Tenth Infantry.

At the regular weekly drill which will be held at the armory this evening, Captain Meagher will put his men through a preliminary inspection so that they will be alert to the situation Wednesday evening. On inspection night the members will report at 7:45 o'clock, so they will be ready to form the company promptly at the sound of assembly at 8 o'clock.

This inspection will mark the greatest change in the personnel of the local national guard company in many years. Fully sixty per cent of the present members have enlisted during the past year, filling vacancies left by members, on account of their enlistments expiring, and those dropped for business and other miscellaneous reasons. With these changes in the ranks there was also changes in the officers of Company M. Lieutenants Dittus and Cahlin being advanced from sergeant and corporal respectively to take the commissions held by Lieutenants Carpenter and Kuehn, who resigned during the year.

LINCOLN DINNER AT LIBERTY

Congressman Platt will introduce in the house within a few days a special act which if it goes through will give a pension to Miss Sarah K. Vail, the crippled daughter of Mrs. Carrie M. Vail, of Cornwall-on-Hudson. Miss Vail's father was a union soldier in the civil war. Because of a subsequent marriage Mrs. Vail is barred by the pension laws from receiving a pension. It is alleged in the bill that Mrs. Vail cannot afford to take care of the girl and as the daughter is crippled and unable to make her own living it is deemed by the congressman that she is entitled to a pension by right of her father's services in the war. This could not be done under the regular pension laws so Mr. Platt will introduce the special act. Although there is precedent for such action it is very unusual.

Railroad Strike Spreading North.

Twenty-six track walkers and section hands on the West Shore railroad at Newburgh joined the strikers on Monday when they were visited by the labor agitators from down the river. The strike leaders continued their journey north. A number of attempts at violence were made by the striking Italians when other railroad employees were called to remove snow from the tracks and armed deputies patrolled the tracks from Newburgh to Highland Falls to prevent any disorder.

BARTENDER SHOTS HOBO THROUGH HEAD WRECK BLOCKED WEST SHORE ROAD

Saugerties Saloonkeeper Says Stranger Struck Him on the Head and he Fired in Self Defense—Wounded Man Unconscious and Assailant in Jail.
An unknown man who was without any identification marks was shot through the head by Charles Guadagnolo in the latter's saloon near the Saugerties railroad depot Monday night and is unconscious and in a critical condition at the Kingston City Hospital, where he will probably die.
Guadagnolo says he shot in self defense after he had been struck on the head with a beer glass which he had set out to his customer a minute before. He is in jail where he will remain pending the outcome of the stranger's injury.
Guadagnolo formerly lived in Kingston and is a son of Frank Guadagnolo of Ann street. He left Kingston several years ago and later established a saloon near the Saugerties depot.
At the time of the shooting, there were three or four men in the saloon in addition to the proprietor, who was behind the bar. The stranger, on entering the place, walked to the bar and ordered a glass of beer, with which he was served.
According to Guadagnolo's story, when he was brought to jail, the stranger looked like a hobo. He laid a nickel on the bar in payment of his drink, but before taking the money Guadagnolo says he leaned over to adjust one of the faucets under the bar. As he leaned over, he says, he was struck on the head with the glass which he had just set out, and fearing that something else might follow, he reached for his revolver, which was beneath the bar, and straightening up, shot the stranger in the head.
Guadagnolo and the other men in the saloon sent word to Policeman Rickerson, to whom the proprietor surrendered himself. The stranger was found by the policeman lying on the floor where he had dropped. Part of his brain, mixed with blood, was scattered over the floor.
Dr. B. W. Gifford was summoned and decided to bring the stranger to Kingston and is a son of Frank Guadagnolo of Ann street. He left Kingston several years ago and later established a saloon near the Saugerties depot.

Webster's Team Wins.
After being on the receiving end of three defeats by Wood's bowling team, Webster's team rallied last night at the Y. M. C. A. alleys and launched a successful attack against their opponents, winning the fourth game of the ten game series by the score of 3,589 to 3,501.

Both sides hit the timber with good success, as the score indicates, the scores being the highest yet run up by both teams. The laurels for the evening fell on Hills of the losers, who bowled the best game so far in the series, smashing the woodwork for a high average of 204 points. Payne was again the best man for the Webster aggregation, with an average of 193.
Webster was unable to be on hand to lead his charges and evidently his absence was a jinx for the losers. Giles, his substitute, bowled a steady game. The winners started off strongly with a 943 pin score and were never headed, although Wood's clan kept close behind all the time. The score:

BORGWARDT CASE ARGUED.

Question Involved is Whether Union Dues Had Been Paid.

The case of Robert Borgwardt against Grant W. Hotelling, as treasurer of Union No. 175, Cigar Makers' International Union of America, was argued before Judge Jenkins in Judge's chambers Monday. The suit is an action to recover $550 death benefit alleged to be due the plaintiff's son, Arthur, since the death of Robert Borgwardt on November 16, 1915. According to the constitution of the union, the widow of a person who has been a member of the union for fifteen years or more at the time of death, or if she be dead, her children, are due the death benefits which the constitution allows. Mr. Borgwardt was a member of the local union since 1897 but there was a question of whether his dues had been paid at the time of death. If the dues had been unpaid for eight weeks and the man had died within that time his heirs would be eligible for the benefits, but if his death occurred after eight weeks of non payment of dues there could be no death benefit given, according to the testimony of James Jarman, secretary of the union, who appeared for the defendant.

A similar case was tried in city court some time ago, when the widow of the dead man brought suit for $40 death benefits alleged to be due the wife of a dead member of the union. Since that time she also has died and now the son is bringing suit for the $550 alleged to be due him. N. Frank O'Reilly is appearing for the plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for the defendant. The case was continued before the judge in the afternoon.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Feb. 14.—On Friday evening, February 11, a most pleasant and enjoyable affair was held at "Maple Crest," the occasion being the formation of the "Necco Club," all members being present. During the evening games, singing and dancing were enjoyed, the music being rendered most beautifully by our accomplished musician. The latest dances were taught by the club's dancing master, all pupils improving under the careful tutoring of the instructor. After all business was transacted a dainty buffet luncheon was served by the hostess. In the course of events one member lost the location of her mouth, and treated her eye to a bath of grape juice. The corners of the room served their purpose of darkness to the abused and injured eye of our "fair member." Regardless of the assistance of the club, who rushed to the rescue, nor had lamp light, electric light or moonlight any effect on the purple rays that persisted in dancing before the violet blue orbs of Old Cornerstone, for the rest of the evening. The other members escorted Old Cornerstone home to the tune of "Lead Kindly Light." This meeting initiated Old Cornerstone to her proper position. Another meeting will be held in the near future to initiate another fair member. True to their name and the loyalty of their standard the club dispersed at a late hour. This club is composed of the cream of society of the younger set of Bloomington, and many are the happy meetings in store for those fortunate enough to obtain membership.

Don't forget the hot chicken supper on Tuesday evening, February 15, in the basement of the church for 25 cents. Ice cream and other refreshments will be for sale. The younger people will give a free entertainment on that evening. Everybody is invited to come and enjoy a good time and help the good cause along. If stormy the next fair evening.

The KITCHEN CABINET

May not the complaint that common people are above their station often take its rise in the fact of uncommon people being below theirs?—Dickens.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

This is a combination which is uncommon but will be found most appetizing:

Escalloped Corn and Oysters.—This is a good dish to use with a few oysters for additional flavor. A pint or less may be used. Drain the liquor from a can or pint of oysters and mix with a can of corn. Place a layer in a buttered dish, then sprinkle with crumbs and also another layer of corn and oysters, finish with buttered crumbs and pour over rich milk to come to the top. Bake until thoroughly scalded. The oysters will be tough if overcooked.

Unusual Baked Beans.—Soak a quart of navy beans overnight, then parboil them until the skins roll, drain and add fresh cold water, a half cupful each of brown sugar and vinegar, a tablespoonful each of mustard and salt and a pint of tomatoes and a half pound of salt pork. Bake all day.

Marshmallow Dessert.—Dissolve a heaping tablespoonful of gelatin in a half cupful of hot water, add a half cupful of cold water. Beat the whites of four eggs stiff, add 1½ cupfuls of sugar, then pour in the gelatin mixture and beat until it is quite stiff. Color and put nuts in a third of it, then grease a mold with a little butter, put in a layer of white and a layer of colored, then set away to harden. Cut in slices and serve with whipped cream.

Homemade Mustard.—Beat three tablespoonfuls of mustard with a tablespoonful of sugar and one egg; when smooth add a cupful of vinegar and cook for three or four minutes. When cold add a teaspoonful of olive oil or melted butter.

Date-Nut Torte.—Beat two eggs, broken into a mixing bowl, and add a cupful of granulated sugar; beat until well creamed. Add a cupful of seeded dates, cut in small pieces, and a cupful of nut meats chopped. A third of a cupful of flour, sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder, a little salt; then pour into a well-floured baking pan. Bake half an hour, then sprinkle with lemon juice and set aside to cool. Serve cold with whipped cream.

SOCIETY NOTES.

John A. Fischer, father of Alderman John Fischer, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Sunday at his home, 22 Mary's avenue. Mr. Fischer is a hale and hearty old man for his age.

Wednesday evening, February 16, a subscription dance will be held at St. Mary's Hall, Zita's orchestra being engaged for the evening. A promenade concert will be given from 8 to 9 and dancing will occupy the time from 9 to 2. Tickets for this popular affair may be secured at the door.

The Misses Harriet Freer and Ruth Siegle entertained a number of teachers of the high and grammar schools at a Valentine party Monday evening at 168 Fair street. Valentine games were played and prizes were won by Miss Burt and Miss Thayer, the consolation prizes being awarded to Miss Bronson and Miss Paulding. During the evening several musical selections were rendered and delicious refreshments were served. The guests were The Misses Connor, Davis, Paulding, Bronson, Thayer, Hull, Demares, Reiner, Burt and Mrs. Hyman Roosa.

On Thursday evening Miss Lillian Marchio was given a surprise party at her home on Hasbrouck avenue. During the evening appropriate games were played, also a number of selections on the piano were given by Ed Murray. Later refreshments were served and at a late hour the guests departed for their homes, voting Miss Marchio a royal entertainer. Those present were the Misses Grace and Florence Dougherty, Marguerite Edwards, Ethel Glass, Ruth Fink, Julia Lurie, Anna Marchio, Jennette Grimes, Carolyn Goluskie, Lillian Marchio, Fannie Katz, Margaret Carr and Charles Koepfen, George Glass Frank Stupki, Edward Murray, Joseph Heidcamp, Clarence Wolfenstein, John McMann, Kenneth Lantry, Steve Visniski and Charles Lamberton.

Trainor-Kleeber.

Announcements of the marriage of Miss May Kleeber, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Kleeber of Jersey City and Sauergeries, and William Trainor of Rutherford, N. J., have been received by Sauergeries friends of the bride.

Catskill Man to Wed.

According to the New York Journal, Martin Niles Wilcoxon of Catskill is to wed Miss Yvette Violet de Von, the former artist's model, who recently sued Andrew Cuneo, the banker, for breach of promise. In his application for a license, the groom-to-be declared he had no occupation but merely owned land. Wilcoxon was divorced from his first wife in 1911.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Brink on St. James street. Mrs. Osterhout had the paper for the day, her subject being "The Religion and Philosophy of Tolstoi." The club will, on the evening of February 29, entertain at the home of Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, the evening being devoted to "Russian Music." Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. Kenyon.

Thursday, February 17, is the evening set aside for the informal charity dance which will be given by the Daughters of Isabella in Pythian Hall for the benefit of the needy ones of the city. Dancing will be enjoyed until 12 o'clock for which good music will be provided. As the cause is a most worthy one it is hoped there will be a large attendance of philanthropic people. The small price of admission will also include dancing. The public is most cordially invited to attend and is assured of a pleasant evening.

Sunshine Card Party.

At the special meeting of the Sunshine Society held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. Scott Gillispie, yesterday, it was definitely decided to hold a card party on the afternoon of Thursday, March 2nd, for the purpose of raising funds with which to carry on the work of the society. The card party will be held at St. Joseph's Hall in the afternoon from 2:30 to 5, and there will be no prizes, but light refreshments and delicious ones too, will be served. Five hundred and bridge will be played. Tickets for the card party may now be purchased from any member of the Sunshine Society.

Seiskanishade Club.

The Seiskanishade Club held an unusually interesting meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leighton. The roll call consisted of a review and discussion of E. Marion Crawford's "Three Fates," probably his least known, and by many critics considered his best work. Mrs. Meagher had the paper for the day, her topic being "Sidney Lanier." She gave an excellent and interesting account of the gentle and musical poet of the southland, descended from cultured ancestors, possessing musical, artistic and literary ability. Having been born in Macon, Georgia, he quite naturally sympathized with the confederacy and during the war in which he took active part, he suffered such hardships both in prison and after his release, that his health was permanently impaired, and he died of tuberculosis. Though a writer of some exquisite prose and poetry, his works did not receive their due recognition until 1884, though he is now recognized as among the eight great writers of song. Among his chief characteristics were a strong personal love; a deep pity for suffering humanity; a passionate love of nature; a deep reverence for God. The fine paper was brought to a close with the mention of many of his most noted works. After the regular program, the club members busied themselves in playing St. Valentine. They filled boxes with fruit, candy and nuts, for each patient at the tuberculosis hospital. Then each box was done up in pretty paper and sealed with a little red heart. Furthermore, each package, when presented to the patients was to have a red carnation as the real Valentine. It had been the intention of the club to visit the hospital today and give a little entertainment for the patients. Owing to the intense cold, this part of the program will be postponed for a short time, but this morning, some of the club members took the boxes and flowers, in a taxi-cab to the hospital, so that the patients should receive their valentines in fine condition. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. George Styles, Jr., at her home, No. 51 La Fayette avenue.

Olympian Club.

The Olympian Club met on Monday evening with Miss Cordes and Mrs. Payne at their home on John street. The general topic for consideration was "Scottish Characters Illustrated by Scotch Authors," and Miss Goodsell had the first paper of the evening, her subject being "Sir Walter Scott." Descended from old border families on both sides, stories early told Scott by his mother stirred his imagination and enthusiasm by revealing the past as a world of living heroes. From his grandmother's tales he developed his intense love of Scottish history and tradition, which characterizes all of his works. Characters from "Rob Roy," "The Heart of Midlothian" and other works were presented, and through all was found to run a dry humor, the spirit of endurance, heroism and a love of solemn things. The paper was very interesting. Another most interesting paper was by Miss Anna McCulloch on "Ian Mac Laren," who was shown as dwelling upon the sober side of the Scottish folk. He says "Our folk have an awful sense of humor; it's as deep as they canna laugh." Miss McCulloch also gave readings from Mac Laren. Miss Schutt, in a paper on "J. M. Barrie," showed the characteristics of the Scottish people as represented by the characters in "Little Minister," and in his tribute to his mother, Miss Margaret McCulloch next gave excellent readings from Robert Louis Stevenson's "Weir of Hermiston," which were enjoyed by all. This brought to a close an unusually enjoyable and informing program. The club then participated in a merry valentine party, many of the members appearing in costume. While some of the costumes were appropriate to Valentine Day, others were truly Scottish. The characters of Barrie's mother, "Margaret Ogilvie," "Mary, Queen of Scots," "Queen Elizabeth" and ladies in "The Little Minister's" waiting," were impersonated. Still other club members wore the tartan kilts of the Mac Gregor, Mac Allister, Stuart and Mac Lean clans while the Campbell Clan was represented by one in full Scottish costume. Two members of the club gave an exceptionally fine exhibition of the Scottish "Highland Fling." During the evening delicious refreshments were served, the dining room being artistically decorated

DARING BRITISH SUBMARINE CREW BRAVES ICY WATERS OF BALIC TO SINK GERMAN DESTROYER AND STRENGTHEN BLOCKADE.

The British submarine E-9, with Commander Max Horton in charge, has arrived back in port, covered with ice, after one of the most thrilling adventures of the war. With the thermometer hovering around the zero point, the under-sea craft forced her way through the ice floes in the Baltic and sank a German destroyer. To get to the destroyer she was forced to go through mine fields and after sinking the vessel, to return through the same fields. She escaped without striking a mine and without being discovered by the Germans. When she arrived in port she was covered with a complete coating of heavy sea ice.

with red azaleas. The place cards were red arrows, and each guest received as her favor an original valentine.

Doubtless.

No doubt if we could read the humbler minds we'd find that many a mere sausage thinks itself a gay dog.

Biblical Names Popular.

A paragrapher asserts that England can boast that no other country possesses so many Scriptural place names as are found in that country. The name of Jericho occurs six times on the map, Paradise five times and Nineveh, Mt. Zion, Mt. Ararat and Mt. Ephraim three times each.

Hubby Knows Everything.

Mrs. Newrich had been told by her caller that a certain dinner party had "wound up with great eclat." When her husband came home she asked him what "a-kia" meant. "Why, that's the dessert, I guess," said Newrich. "Didn't you ever eat a chocolate a-kia?"—Boston Transcript.

GREAT UHLAN IS RETIRED AT LAST.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—C. K. G. Billings, the famous New York millionaire and sportsman, has confirmed the reports received here from time to time, that Uhlán, 1:58, the greatest trotter the light harness world has ever known, has been definitely retired from further speed tests.

According to Mr. Billings, who owns the horse, the black gelding will rest on his laurels of the world's record mile in 1:58, a quarter in 27 seconds, a half in 56½ seconds, and a number of other performances that stand as world's records. In the future Billings will use Uhlán as a saddle horse. The son of Bingham is now 12 years old, but still retains his fleetness of foot.

Descended From Crusaders.

The Touaregs, a Sahara desert tribe, whose members wear veils so continually that near relatives are said not to recognize each other if the garment in question happens to be removed, are direct descendants of a party of crusaders who were lost on the way to conquer Jerusalem and Mecca.

Discouraging.

After a mother has taught her son not to keep his hands in his pockets, to turn his toes out and not to sniff his nose or smack his lips when he eats, it must be discouraging to hear people remark a mor a after his marriage that his wife made him—Wichita Eagle.

BORGWARDT CASE ARGUED.

Question Involved is Whether Union Dues Had Been Paid.

The case of Robert Borgwardt against Grant W. Hotelling, as treasurer of Union No. 175, Cigar Makers' International Union of America, was argued before Judge Jenkins in Judge's chambers Monday. The suit is an action to recover $350 death benefit alleged to be due the plaintiff's son, Arthur since the death of Robert Borgwardt on November 16, 1915. According to the constitution of the union, the widow of a person who has been a member of the union for fifteen years or more at the time of death, or if she be dead, her children, are due the death benefits which the constitution allows. Mr. Borgwardt was a member of the local union since 1897 but there was a question of whether his dues had been paid at the time of death. If the dues had been unpaid for eight weeks and the man had died within that time his heirs would be eligible for the benefits, but if his death occurred after eight weeks of non payment of dues there could be no death benefit given, according to the testimony of James Jarman, secretary of the union, who appeared for the defendant.

A similar case was tried in city court some time ago, when the widow of the dead man brought suit for $49 death benefits alleged to be due the wife of a dead member of the union. Since that time she also has died and now the son is bringing suit for the $350 alleged to be due him. N. Frank O'Reilly is appearing for the plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for the defendant. The case was continued before the judge in the afternoon.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Feb. 14.—On Friday evening, February 11, a most pleasant and enjoyable affair was held at "Maple Crest," the occasion being the formation of the "Necro Club," all members being present. During the evening games, singing and dancing were enjoyed, the music being rendered most beautifully by our accomplished musician. The latest dances were taught by the club's dancing master, all pupils improving under the careful tutelage of the instructor. After all business was transacted a dainty buffet luncheon was served by the hostess. In the course of events one member lost the location of her mouth, and treated her eye to a bath of grape juice. The corners of the room served the purpose of darkness to the abused and injured eyes of our "fair member." Regardless of the assistance of the club, who rushed to the rescue, nor had lamp light, electric light or moonlight any effect on the purple rays that persisted in dancing before the violet blue orbs of Old Cornerstone, for the rest of the evening. The other members escorted Old Cornerstone home to the tune of "Lead Kindly Light." This meeting initiated Old Cornerstone to her proper position. Another meeting will be held in the near future to initiate another fair member. True to their name and the loyalty of their standard the club dispersed at a late hour. This club is composed of the cream of society of the younger set of Bloomington, and many are the happy meetings in store for those fortunate enough to obtain membership.

Don't forget the hot chicken supper on Tuesday evening, February 15, in the basement of the church for 25 cents. Ice cream and other refreshments will be for sale. The younger people will give a free entertainment on that evening. Everybody is invited to come and enjoy a good time and help the good cause along. If stormy the next fair evening.

The KITCHEN CABINET

May not the complaint that common people are above their station often take its rise in the fact of uncommon people being below theirs?—Puck.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

This is a combination which is uncommon but will be found most appetizing:

Escalloped Corn and Oysters.—This is a good dish to use with a few oysters for additional flavor. A pint or less may be used. Drain the liquor from a can or pint of oysters and mix with a can of corn. Place a layer in a buttered dish, then sprinkle with crumbs and also another layer of corn and oysters, finish with buttered crumbs and pour over rich milk to come to the top. Bake until thoroughly scalded. The oysters will be tough if overcooked.

Unusual Baked Beans.—Soak a quart of navy beans overnight, then parboil them until the skins roll, drain and add fresh cold water, a half cupful each of brown sugar and vinegar, a tablespoonful each of mustard and salt and a pint of tomatoes and a half-pound of salt pork. Bake all day.

Marshmallow Dessert.—Dissolve a heaping tablespoonful of gelatin in a half cupful of hot water and a half cupful of cold water. Beat the whites of four eggs stiff, add 1½ cupfuls of sugar, then pour in the gelatin mixture and beat until it is quite stiff. Color and put nuts in a third of it, then grease a mold with a little butter, put in a layer of white and a layer of colored, then set away to harden. Cut in slices and serve with whipped cream.

Homemade Mustard.—Beat three tablespoonfuls of mustard with a tablespoonful of sugar and one egg; when smooth add a cupful of vinegar and cook for three or four minutes. When cold add a teaspoonful of olive oil or melted butter.

Date-Nut Torte.—Beat two eggs, broken into a mixing bowl, and add a cupful of granulated sugar; beat until well creamed. Add a cupful of seeded dates, cut in small pieces, and a cupful of nut meats chopped. A third of a cupful of flour, sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder, a little salt; then pour into a well-floured baking pan. Bake half an hour, then sprinkle with lemon juice and set aside to cool. Serve cold with whipped cream.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 15, 1916

Another plank of the last Democratic national platform has been pulled out and burned. President Wilson has notified the Democrats of Ohio, in accordance with the laws of their State, that they may elect delegates to the national convention pledged to vote for his renomination. This amounts to a formal declaration that he is a candidate. The platform on which he was elected read: "We favor a single Presidential term, and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle." Although the Democrats have been in power for three years, they have taken no step toward carrying out this policy. If the last word of the plank quoted had been "proposition," for instance, it might plausibly be argued that Wilson was pledged only to advocate the Constitutional amendment, but the use of the word "principle" unquestionably means that he is bound in honor not to run for a second term. Political platforms are constructed for the purpose of attracting votes, and after the votes are cast it is cheating not to carry out the promises. The question whether or not a President ought to be limited to one term is of no importance under the circumstances. It is a flimsy expedient to put forward the threadbare excuse that a bad promise is better broken than kept. Neither is it of avail to protest that the plank was inserted in the platform by Bryan, since the latter was also responsible for the nomination of Wilson instead of Champ Clark, who was the real choice of the delegates. It is unpleasant to record the fact that the President of the United States is participant in a bunco game, but there is no dodging the truth.

Just as the question of the rules governing submarine warfare was supposed to be virtually settled, the whole subject has been reopened by the notices sent out by Germany and Austria that after March 1 they will sink without warning all enemy merchantmen which carry guns. Just how the submarine commanders are going to find out whether or not guns are aboard, has not been explained. It seems certain that a good many "mistakes" are bound to occur. It will be remembered that the Germans were convinced that the Lusitania was armed. When Secretary Lansing was Counselor of the State Department he laid down the rule that under international law "merchant vessel of belligerent nationality may carry an armament and ammunition for the sole purpose of defense without acquiring the character of a ship of war." Yet it is understood that our Government will not protest against the Teutonic policy. It is a well-established principle that the rules of a game, whether of war or cards, cannot be changed during the play, but there is no international law any more except for the United States. It is a close question how much rules may be altered by changing conditions. From the standpoint of the submarine commander there is no difference between offensive and defensive armament on a merchant vessel. It seems that the best solution of the problem would be to take all the guns off merchant vessels, but if England refuses it is not clear what we can do about it. Apparently, we are going to lose many more of our citizens and have worse trouble than we have yet experienced.

When it comes to Indians and Indian affairs, Minority Leader Mann shows himself to be in possession of a multitude of facts relating to the present status of the Indians and his people. Incidentally, Mr. Mann is credited among colleagues with being "some Indian" himself. An item of $1,500 to redeem a mortgage on the property of a Turtle Creek Chippewa was debated in the Indian appropriation bill before the House and Mr. Mann came off with flying colors in the battle of statistics which followed with members of the Indian Affairs Committee on the defensive. The existence of the mortgage was charged to an error of the federal land office, and one defender of the item concluded: "And I insist that the government ought to correct its mistake." Quick as a flash Mr. Mann retorted: "We will correct one mistake this fall!" The Chippewa relief raid went over on his objection. As a prophet, the minority leader ought to attain a batting average as high as his record as an economist opposing the desires of a pork-gorged Democracy. Naturally, his prophecies and economies alike gain no following among the majority party but time will show Mann to be right on both propositions when it comes for the people to express themselves.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Oh! Why did I ever marry you?"
"Because I didn't know any better."
—Life.

"How can she marry him, knowing that he's dissipated?" "But his fortune isn't."—Boston Transcript.

"Recovered from your attack of the grip, old man?" "Not entirely."
"Why, you look as well as ever."
"Yes, but I owe the doctor $15."—Boston Transcript.

"You seem deeply attached to your little playmate." "Her doll saved my doll's life," explained the doctor's daughter. "How was that?"
"She consented to a transfusion of sawdust."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Farmer Greene—"So you think this here highway should be improved, Jedge?" Judge Brown—"Why, certainly. If we had a road here that motorists could speed on, it would almost pay for itself in fines!"
—Judge.

"Have you made any effort to ascertain the principles of economics on which your theories of government are based?" Inquired the man with prominent spectacles. "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "How to land votes is easier found out and, so far as I can see, more important just now."—Washington Star.

Scared Them Off.

The lady from Great Littleton was talking to a friend who lived in Lesser Littleton.

"I've often wondered," she said presently, "why you all combined to get your minister changed. What had the old one done?"

The Lesser Littleton lady settled herself more easily in the chair.

"Oo, my dear, he was quite impossible!" she explained. "Why, he used to preach and talk about the responsibilities of marriage so much that none of the unmarried men in the village had the courage to propose."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

No More Worry.

Jones, who suffers from catarrh, woke up in the middle of the night recently and lastly swallowed what he intended to be a cough lozenge. It was only in the morning that he was able definitely to decide that the object in question must have been really his back collar stud. He confided his awful suspicions to his wife, expecting sympathy, but all she said was: "Don't worry about your stud, for once in your life you know where you've put it!"—Rochester Times.

Harmless.

It is a British custom for mayors and such like civic dignitaries to wear about the neck an ornamental chain, somewhat like that worn by Walderf head waiters. And it was a Londoner, just arrived at a Scottish town, who interrogated the porter of the local inn:

"Not a large place this?"

"No verra," was the answer.

"Has it a corporation?"

"A what, sir?"

"I mean, who rules it?"

"Rules it? Just the provost."

"Ah, the provost. Just like our lord mayor. Has he any insignia of rank?"

"Insignia! What d'ye mean?"

"Yes, insignia; that is to say, does he wear a chain?"

"A chain, sir! The provost chained! No, na! He gangs loose; but dinna be feared, he's quite harmless."—New York Evening Sun.

A Person of Importance.

Johnny had only just started school, and on the third morning he was late in getting up.

When he came home at the middle of the day his mother said:

"Weren't you late for school this morning?"

"Oh, no, mother!" exclaimed Johnny.

"Not late? Why you didn't leave home till after 9? What were the other children doing when you got there?"

"They were just all sitting still waiting till I got there!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HER FAITH KNOWS NO CHILL.

Baptized in Icy Waters of Hudson While Blizzard Raged.

Miss Thomas Oliver's unbounded faith in Christianity was demonstrated Sunday afternoon at Highland Beach, when, in the face of a forty mile an hour snow storm, she waded into the river through a hole cut in the ice and stood there several minutes, the water up to her neck, while Elder Charles Walker baptized her a Christian. Then she was accepted into membership in the Church of God and Saints of Christ.

Once during the ceremony she was completely submerged in the water. Then she stood with the dripping water forming into icicles as Elder Walker, assisted by Deacon William Mitchell, completed the ceremony, which was witnessed by fifty spectators. Afterward the members of the party were taken to a warm room and after being thoroughly dried completed the ceremony with the feet washing, one of the main features.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1522—A Simple but Attractive Style for Home or Business Wear—Ladies' House or Home Dress, With Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

As here shown, striped gingham, in blue and white, was used, with white line for trimming. The waist and skirt are cut on simple lines, with front closing; deep pockets trim the skirt, and a broad collar finishes the waist. The sleeve is dart fitted in wrist length and is finished with a neat cuff, in short length a turn back cuff forms a suitable trimming. This style is good for all wash fabrics, also for taffeta, poplin, serge, corduroy, voile and velvet. In blue serge with facings of blue or black satin, it would make a splendid business dress. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 33 yards at its lower edge. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

SOCIETY NOTES.

John A. Fischer, father of Alderman John Fischer, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Sunday at his home, 22 Mary's avenue. Mr. Fischer is a hale and hearty old man for his age.

Wednesday evening, February 16, a subscription dance will be held at St. Mary's Hall, Zita's orchestra being engaged for the evening. A promenade concert will be given from 8 to 9 and dancing will occupy the time from 9 to 2. Tickets for this popular affair may be secured at the door.

The Misses Harriet Freer and Ruth Siegle entertained a number of teachers of the high and grammar schools at a Valentine party Monday evening at 168 Fair street. Valentine games were played and prizes were won by Miss Burr and Miss Thayer, the consolation prize being awarded to Miss Bronson and Miss Paulding. During the evening several musical selections were rendered and delicious refreshments were served. The guests were The Misses Connor, Davis, Paulding, Bronson, Thayer, Hull, Demares, Reiner, Burton and Mrs. Hyman Roosa.

On Thursday evening Miss Lillian Marchio was given a surprise party at her home on Hasbrouck avenue. During the evening appropriate games were played, also a number of selections on the piano were given by Ed Murray. Later refreshments were served and at a late hour the guests departed for their homes, voting Miss Marchio a royal entertainer. Those present were the Misses Grace and Florence Dougherty, Marguerite Edwards, Ethel Glass, Ruth Fink, Julia Lurie, Anna Newcomb, Jennette Gilman, Carolyn Goligowski, Lillian Marchio, Fannie Katz, Margaret Carr and Charles Koeppen, George Glass Frank Stupka, Edward Murray, Joseph Heidcamp, Clarence Wolford, Joan McManis, Kenneth Lantry, Steve Wisniski and Charles Lambertson.

Catskill Man to Wed.

According to the New York Journal, Martin Niles Wilcoxson of Catskill is to wed Miss Yvette Violet de Von, the former artist's model, who recently sued Andrew Cuneo, the banker for breach of promise. In his application for a license, the groom-to-be declared he had no occupation but merely owned land. Wilcoxson was divorced from his first wife in 1911.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Brink on St. James street. Mrs. Osterhout had the paper for the day, her subject being, "The Religion and Philosophy of Tolstoy." The luncheon on the evening of February 29 entertain at the home of Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, the evening being devoted to "Russian Music." Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. Kenyon.

Thursday, February 17, is the evening set aside for the informal charity dance which will be given by the Daughters of Isabella in Pythian Hall for the benefit of the needy ones of the city. Dancing will be enjoyed until 12 o'clock for which good music will be provided. As the cause is a most worthy one it is hoped there will be a large attendance of philanthropic people. The small price of admission will also include dancing. The public is most cordially invited to attend and is assured of a pleasant evening.

Sunshine Card Party.

At the special meeting of the Sunshine Society held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. Scott Gillespie, yesterday, it was definitely decided to hold a card party on the afternoon of Thursday, March 2nd, for the purpose of raising funds with which to carry on the work of the society. The card party will be held at St. Joseph's Hall in the afternoon from 2:30 to 5, and there will be no prizes, but light refreshments, and delicious ones too will be served. Five hundred and bridge will be played. Tickets for the card party may now be purchased from any member of the Sunshine Society.

Scotkanishade Club.

The Scotkanishade Club held an unusually interesting meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leighton. The roll call consisted of a review and discussion of F. Marion Crawford's "Three Fates," probably his least known, and by many critics considered his best work. Mrs. Meagher had the paper for the day, her topic being "S. G. Lamer." She gave an excellent and interesting account of the gentle and adventurous poet of the southland, descended from cultured ancestors, possessing musical, artistic and literary ability. Having been born in Macon, Georgia, he quite naturally sympathized with the confederacy and during the war in which he took active part, he suffered such hardships both in prison and after his release, that his health was permanently impaired, and he died of tuberculosis. Though a writer of some exquisite prose and poetry, his works did not receive their due recognition until 1884, though he is now recognized as among the eight great writers of the south. Among his chief characteristics were a strong personal love; a deep pity for suffering humanity; a passionate love of nature; a deep reverence for God. The paper was brought to a close with the mention of many of his most noted works. After the regular program, the club members busied themselves in playing St. Valentine. They filled boxes with fruit, candy and nuts, for each patient at the tuberculosis hospital. Then each box was done up in pretty paper and sealed with a little red heart. Furthermore, each package, when presented to the patients was to have a real carnation as the real Valentine. It had been the intention of the club to visit the hospital today and give a little entertainment for the patients. Owing to the intense cold, this part of the program will be postponed for a short time, but this

Olympian Club.

The Olympian Club met on Monday evening with Miss Cordes and Mrs. Payne at their home on John street. The general topic for consideration was "Scottish Characters Illustrated by Scotch Authors," and Miss Goodsell had the first paper of the evening her subject being "Sir Walter Scott." Descended from old border families on both sides, stories early told Scott by his mother stirred his imagination and enthusiasm by revealing the past as a world of living heroes. From his grandmother's tales he developed his intense love of Scottish history and tradition, which characterizes all of his works. Characters from "Rob Roy," "The Heart of Midlothian" and other works were presented, and through all was found to run a dry humor, the spirit of endurance, heroism and a love of solemn things. The paper was very interesting. Another most interesting paper was by Miss Anna McCullough on "Ian Mac Laren," who was known as dwelling upon the seelie side of the Scottish folk. He says "Our folk have an awfu' sense o'humour, it's sae deep they cannae laugh." Miss McCullough also gave readings from Mac Laren. Miss Schutt, in a paper on "I. M. Barrie," showed the characteristics of the Scottish people as represented by the characters in "Little Minister," and in his tribute to his mother, Miss Margaret McCullough next gave excellent readings from Robert Louis Stevenson's "Weir of Hermiston," which were enjoyed by all. This brought to a close an unusually enjoyable and informing program. The club then participated in a merry valentine party, many of the members appearing in costume. While some of the costumes were appropriate to Valentine Day, others were truly Scottish. The characters of Barrie's mother, "Margaret Ogilvie," "Mary, Queen of Scots," "Queen Elizabeth and ladies in waiting," "The Little Minister's Mother," were impersonated. Still other club members wore the tartan kilts of the Mac Gregor, Mac Allan, Stuart and Mac Lean clans, while the Campbell Clan was represented by one in full Scottish costume. Two members of the club gave an exceptionally fine exhibition of the Scottish "Highland Fling." During the evening delicious refreshments were served, the dining room being artistically decorated

DARING BRITISH SUBMARINE CREW BRAVES ICY WATERS OF BALTIC TO SINK GERMAN DESTROYER AND STRENGTHEN BLOCKADE.

The British submarine E-9, with Commander Max Horton in charge, has arrived back in port, covered with ice, after one of the most thrilling adventures of the war. With the thermometer hovering around the zero point, the under-sea craft forced her way through the ice floes in the Baltic and sank a German destroyer through the same fields. She escaped without striking a mine and without being discovered by the Germans. When she arrived in port she was covered with a complete coating of heavy sea ice.

with red azaleas. The place cards were red arrows, and each guest received as her favor an original valentine.

Douticans.

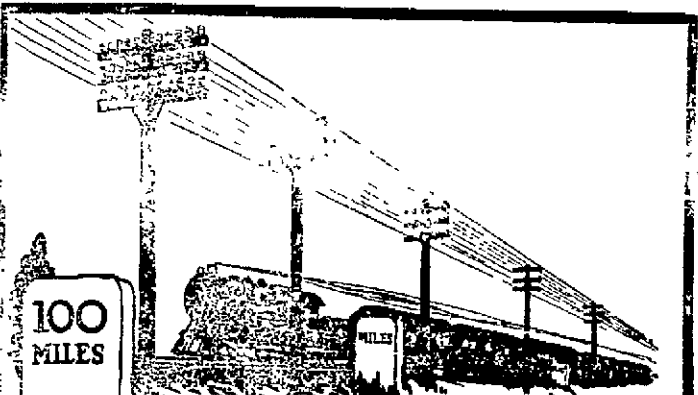

No doubt if we could read the humble minds we'd find that many a mere sausage thinks itself a gay dog.

Biblical Names Popular.

A paragrapher asserts that England can boast that no other country possesses so many Scriptural place names as are found in that country. The name of Jericho occurs six times on the map. Paradise five times and Nineveh, Mt. Zion, Mt. Ararat and Mt. Ephraim three times each.

Hubby Knows Everything.

Mrs. Newrich had been told by her caller that a certain dinner party had "wound up with great eclat." When her husband came home she asked him what "a-kia" meant. "Why, that's the dessert, I guess," said Newrich. "Didn't you ever eat a chocolate a-kia?"—Boston Transcript.

GREAT UHLAN IS RETIRED AT LAST.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—C. K. G. Billings, the famous New York philanthropist and sportsman, has confirmed the reports received here from time to time that Uhlán, 1:58, the greatest trotter the light harness world has ever known, has been definitely retired from further speed work.

According to Mr. Billings, who owns the horse, the black gelding will rest on his laurels of the world's record mile in 1:58, a quarter in 27 seconds, a half in 56 1/4 seconds, and a number of other performances that stand as world's records. In the future Billings will use Uhlán as a saddle horse. The son of Bingham is now 12 years old, but still retains his swiftness of foot.

Descended From Crusaders.

The Tourogs, a Sahara desert tribe, whose members wear veils so continually that near relatives are said not to recognize each other if the garment in question happens to be removed, are direct descendants of a party of crusaders who were lost on the way to conquer Jerusalem and Mecca.

Discouraging.

After a mother has taught her son not to keep his hands in his pockets, to turn his toes out and not to sniff his nose or smack his lips when he eats, it must be discouraging to hear people remark a month after his marriage that his wife made him—Wichita Eagle.

Consumers Prefer to Buy Articles Advertised in This Paper.

Advertising is the most potent factor of the age in educating consumers.

This education has proven of great advantage to consumers, because they can now make their purchases with intelligence and absolute security.

They know that the manufacturer who puts his name or trademark brand on an article and advertises it must maintain its quality.

It is an established fact that advertising helps manufacturers build a reputation for their products; but, to sustain the reputation, the quality must be maintained.

Advertised products are therefore, in a sense, a protection to the consumer.

They are a guarantee of uniform and permanent quality.

Be on the safe side. Always buy advertised products; ask for them by trademark name or by name of manufacturer.

Remember this—Every time you go to the store to buy soap, perfume, household medicine, paint, varnish, automobile tires, food products, chewing gum, corsets, underwear, shirts, collars, shoes, hair tonic, tooth paste or powders, grape juice or soda fountain drinks, etc., etc., whatever you want, ASK FOR IT BY NAME of manufacturer or trademark brand, and insist on getting it.

Do not accept substitutes.

COLD AGGRAVATES SUFFERING OF POOR

Grip Epidemic Has Left Many Suffering Ones, Whose Position is Made Worse by Zero Weather and Who Need Prompt Assistance.

There is nothing like zero weather to bring home to the comfortably clothed, comfortably clad man or woman the suffering which exists at such a time among those who are less fortunate, and there are plenty of cases in Kingston needing help which the present cold weather has forced into prominence.

Sick With The Grip—One Picture.

Kingston has had a severe epidemic of grip throughout the winter and the epidemic is not ended. The average man or woman who has the grip consults his or her doctor—perhaps the doctor makes one or more calls at the home of the patient, or else purchases grip medicine at a drug store, and then goes home and in time cases out of ten goes to bed and remains there from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Everyone else in the house shares willingly the extra duties imposed during the patient's illness.

After the first severe effects of the grip have been removed by medical aid, there remains with the patient a feeling of laziness or grouching—sometimes both, with accompanying pains, aches and a dozen or more other unusual feelings, but comfortably clothed, comfortably housed, proper food and cheerful surroundings all combine to bring the patient out of the discomfort characteristic of the grip, and at the end of four or five days the patient resumes the ordinary duties of daily life, although the after-effects of the grip may remain for several weeks.

Sick With The Grip—Another Picture.

There is another picture presented in more than one home in Kingston today. There is no money with which to purchase medicine, the quantity of food is no larger than the quantity of food, warm bed-clothing is lacking, and the art of nursing is unknown. There may be children in the family who for weeks have been insufficiently clad and insufficiently nourished. The house may contain one stove which is incapable of holding properly the small fire which can be afforded because it is broken. In some cases there may be typhoid or other contagious diseases among one or more members of the family, and the ordinary means of support have been shut off through the quarantine established on all members of the family for the protection of every other man and woman in Kingston. Or these conditions may have ceased recently, and the family still may be suffering because the quarantine on the family has resulted in loss of employment of the bread-winners.

Neither of these pictures is overdrawn. It is not difficult to find the original of the first picture in any one of a hundred homes in Kingston; investigation has disclosed the original setting for the second picture in many more homes than most of the comfortably-housed Kingstonians will imagine is possible.

Where Official Aid Is Limited.

Public funds are used to some extent in alleviating the suffering described in families which through force of circumstances are unable to care for themselves as they should be cared for. The Department of Charities is able to relieve the suffering to some extent, but there are certain things which the law forbids the department from doing. The Board of Health is able in a limited way to assist in care of some of the patients, but the duty of that board lies principally in the direction of protection to every other citizen, and to safeguard the citizens who are free from contagious and infectious diseases from those who are not free from them.

What Private Effort Must Do.

After both of the city boards mentioned have performed to the full extent allowed by law their duties to such families, there remains a condition which still commands attention. Warm, clean bedding for invalids who in some cases have not known ordinary bedding for several years, is needed and some one must supply it; invalids need something more than the food which may be furnished by the Department of Charities; children need warm clothing to replace the almost thread-bare shreds of last summer's suit; employment must be sought for those whose employment has been lost through the protective measures of quarantine required for safeguarding the citizens who are not ill or who have been compelled to leave their work to take up nursing in their homes and later have found their places filled by other workers.

How Everyone Can Help.

All this and more has been undertaken by the Bureau of Social Service, whose work has been marked by success, but as long as the winter remains there will be additional duties as well as a continuation of the work already undertaken to be performed. Gifts of all kinds have been used to the best possible advantage, and will continue to be so used, but beside material gifts the bureau is in need of money. The bureau does not seek money always in the form of gifts, but is desirous that every Kingstonian who feels capable of contributing to the work should do so in a way by which the feeling of personal co-operation may be created in each contributor. To accomplish this result, the bureau would remind every Kingstonian that membership in the bureau may be obtained through the payment of one dollar per year annual dues. A sustaining membership may be had on payment of five dollars annual dues, and larger contributions of course will at all times be acceptable.

Use the Telephone Now.

Telephone communication with the bureau may be had at any time during the day or early evening. The bureau is listed in the telephone directory, but for the benefit of anyone who wishes to telephone now, the number is herewith given: It is

PYTHIAN DISTRICT CONVENTION HELD

Notable Gathering of Knights From This City and Surrounding Villages Greeted Supreme Chancellor and Grand Chancellor.

The district convention of the Knights of Pythias of the Fifteenth district was held in Pythian Hall, this city, on Monday night, and proved to be one of the most important events in Pythian circles ever held in this section.

The presence of Supreme Chancellor Brig. S. Young was of great importance and his able address was hailed with delight by the large number of Pythian brothers present. The Hon. Clarence McGregor, the grand chancellor of the state of New York, also gave an inspiring talk, as did State Field Deputy William S. Cism. The presence of three such distinguished Pythians at a Pythian convention is one of very rare occurrence and the Knights of Pythias of the Fifteenth district can justly feel proud in being able to entertain the above named brothers.

Large delegations were present from Middletown, New Paltz, Saugerties, Port Ewen, Kerhonkson and Highland and District Deputy William C. Ohley of Saugerties, who had the convention in charge, is to be congratulated upon the able manner in which he conducted the same. The address of welcome on behalf of the Pythians of the district was made by Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., which excelled everything previously given along lines of a similar character.

The exemplification of the rank of Knight on several Esquires by the degree team of Franklin Lodge brought forth much praise from all present, as Franklin Lodge stands very high in the state of New York in their ability in conferring the ranks of Knighthood.

The Standard of Service

THIS great railroad system is owned by 30,000 stockholders. It is operated by their chosen officers for the public service.

It gives employment to 150,000 workers, to whom it pays $118,780,000 annually in wages. For supplies bought from the public it pays out in addition $96,429,454. For taxes alone, $14,293,000 and in interest and dividends on stocks, bonds and other securities held by the public it distributes $43,784,000, making a total annual disbursement in which the public has a direct interest of $273,286,454.

These railroad lines and their owners, the communities they reach, the millions they serve, and the workers they employ, all have the closest mutual interests. The more these mutual interests are understood and furthered, the greater the degree of service rendered. To be a faithful, efficient, punctual and dependable public servant, to make every branch of its service the best possible, is the ideal and standard of

Another plank of the last Democratic national platform has been pulled out and burned. President Wilson has notified the democrats of Ohio, in accordance with the laws of their State, that they may elect delegates to the national convention pledged to vote for his re-nomination. This amounts to a formal declaration that he is a candidate. The platform on which he was elected read: "We favor a single Presidential term, and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle." Although the democrats have been in power for three years, they have taken no step toward carrying out this policy. If the last word of the plank quoted had been "proposition," for instance, it might plausibly be argued that Wilson was pledged only to advocate the Constitutional amendment, but the use of the word "principle" unquestionably means that he is bound in honor not to run for a second term. Political platforms are constructed for the purpose of attracting votes, and after the votes are cast it is cheating not to carry out the promises. The question whether or not a President ought to be limited to one term is of no importance under the circumstances. It is a flimsy expedient to put forward the threadbare excuse that a bad promise is better broken than kept. Neither is it of avail to protest that the plank was inserted in the platform by Bryan, since the latter was also responsible for the nomination of Wilson instead of Champ Clark, who was the real choice of the delegates. It is unpleasant to record the fact that the President of the United States is a participant in a bunco game, but there is no dodging the truth.

Just as the question of the rules governing submarine warfare was supposed to be virtually settled, the whole subject has been reopened by the notices sent out by Germany and Austria that after March 1 they will sink without warning all enemy merchantmen which carry guns. Just how the submarine commanders are going to find out whether or not guns are aboard, has not been explained. It seems certain that a good many "mistakes" are bound to occur. It will be remembered that the Germans were convinced that the Lusitania was armed. When Secretary Lansing was Counselor of the State Department he laid down the rule that under international law a merchant vessel of belligerent nationality may carry an armament and ammunition for the sole purpose of defense without acquiring the character of a ship of war. Yet it is understood that our Government will not protest against the Teutonic policy. It is a well-established principle that the rules of a game, whether of war or cards, cannot be changed during the play, but there is no international law any more except for the United States. It is a close question how much rules may be altered by changing conditions. From the standpoint of the submarine commander there is no difference between offensive and defensive armament on a merchant vessel. It seems that the best solution of the problem would be to take all the guns off merchant vessels, but if England refuses it is not clear what we can do about it. Apparently, we are going to lose many more of our ships and have worse trouble than we have yet experienced.

When it comes to Indians and Indian affairs, Minority Leader Mann shows himself to be in possession of a multitude of facts relating to the present status of the Indian people. Incidentally, Mr. Mann is credited among colleagues with being "some Indian" himself. An item of $1,500 to redeem a mortgage on the property of a Turtle Creek Chippewa was debated in the Indian appropriation bill before the House and Mr. Mann came off with flying colors in the battle of statistics which followed with members of the Indian Affairs Committee on the defensive. The existence of the mortgage was charged to an error of the federal land office, and one defender of the item concluded: "And I insist that the government ought to correct its mistake." Quick as a flash Mr. Mann retorted: "We will correct one mistake this fall!" The Chippewa relief raid went over on his objection. As a prophet, the minority leader ought to attain a batting average as high as his record as an economist opposing the desires of a pork-gorged Democracy. Naturally, his prophecies and economies alike gain no following among the majority party but time will show Mann to be right on both propositions when it comes for the people to express themselves.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Oh! Why did I ever marry you?"
"Because I didn't know any better."
—Life.

"How can she marry him, knowing that he's dissipated?" "But his fortune isn't."—Boston Transcript.

"Recovered from your attack of the grip, old man?" "Not entirely." "Why, you look as well as ever." "Yes, but I owe the doctor $15."—Pittsburgh Courier.

"You seem deeply attached to your little playmate." "Her doll saved my doll's life," explained the doctor's daughter. "How was that?" She consented to a transfusion of sawdust."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Farmer Greene—"So you think this here highway should be improved, judge?" Judge Brown—"Why, certainly. If we had a road here that motorists could speed on, it would almost pay for itself in fines!"—Judge.

"Have you made any effort to ascertain the principles of economics on which your theories of government are based?" Inquired the man with prominent spectacles. "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "How to land votes is easier found out and so far as I can see, more important just now."—Washington Star.

Scared Them Off.
The lady from Great Littleton was talking to a friend who lived in Less Littleton.

"I've often wondered," she said presently, "why you all combined to get your minister changed. What had the old one done?"

"The Lesser Littleton lady settled herself more easily in the chair. "Oh, my dear, he was quite impossible," she explained. "Why, he used to preach and talk about the responsibilities of marriage so much that none of the unmarried men in the village had the courage to propose."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

No More Worry.
Jones, who suffers from catarrh, woke up in the middle of the night recently and hastily swallowed what he imagined to be a cough lozenge. It was only in the morning that he was able definitely to decide that the object in question must have been really his back collared. He confided his awful suspicions to his wife, expecting sympathy, but all she said was: "Don't worry about your stud, for once in your life you know where you've put it!"—Rochester Times.

Harmless.
It is a British custom for mayors and such like civic dignitaries to wear about the neck an ornamental chain, somewhat like that worn by Waldo's head waiters. And it was a Londoner, just arrived at a Scottish town, who interrogated the porter of the local inn.

"Not a large place this?"
"No, vermin," was the answer.
"How is it a corporation?"
"A what, sir?"
"I mean who rules it?"
"Rules it? Just the provost."

"Ah, the provost. Just like our lord mayor. Has he any insignia of rank?"

"A chain, sir! The provost chain'd! No, no! He gangs loose, but dinn't be teased he's quite harmless."—New York Evening Sun.

ALBANY SPECIALIST

Will be in Kingston
FRIDAY, FEB. 18th
AT 340 BROADWAY

DR. SWINBURNE OF ALBANY
Dr. Swinburne's New Methods
Cure Chronic Diseases

Dr. A. H. Swinburne's wonderful success in curing chronic diseases is due to his improved and original methods of treatment. For many years he has devoted his entire time to the study and treatment of those diseases which resist ordinary treatment. Dr. Swinburne does not believe in giving opiates or other temporary relief, but he gives treatment to reach the foundation of the trouble and produce permanent cures. In the treatment of Stomach Liver and Intestinal disorders Dr. Swinburne's treatment will produce remarkable results and enable patients who have suffered for years from indigestion or irregular bowel functions to obtain relief. Stomach Trouble is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness, and unless the stomach performs its functions properly, you cannot enjoy health. In the treatment of many other diseases Dr. Swinburne's success in curing is largely due to the fact that he treats the stomach at the same time, which proves the quickest means which the ing up the system, after which the constitutional disease will readily yield to the specific treatment given and health will result.

Diseases being successfully treated are Catarrhal Troubles, Kidney Diseases, Dropsy or Heart Affections, Shortness of Breath or Asthma, Chronic Coughs or Lung Diseases, Neuritis, Paralysis, Neurasthenia or other Nerve Troubles, Eczema and blood diseases, Special Weakness, Debility, Malnutrition, Private Diseases.

MORE MOVIE ACTORS INVADE ROSENDALE

"Midwinter Madness" is the appropriate Title of the Play They are Engaged in and it Shows Indians, Forest Rangers and Blood Curdling Adventure.

The diversified scenery in the vicinity of Kingston is again being used to stage moving picture plays, a group of fourteen players of the Universal Film Company being engaged for several days in this vicinity, making their headquarters at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Last year pictures of the floating ice scenes in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were taken at the Rondout creek, but this season the managers have decided to stage a thrilling screen tale of the Canadian northwest in the fields of Rosendale and with the picturesque Ashokan reservoir as scenarios. The reservoir is an ideal location for staging movies but the old Catskills sink in the background with the towering Rockies. However, the movie men, like other modern American business men, are gifted with the power of magnification.

"Midwinter Madness" is the topic of the drama being produced in these lands and if the operators can only get "15 below zero" signs somewhere in the pictures, they will be presenting a true picturization of the conditions under which the actors do their performing. This morning about nine o'clock they left the Stuyvesant in an auto for the scene, attired in the garb of cold-blooded Indians, forest rangers, etc. The picture will feature Miss Dorothy Phillips, a popular young star, Stanley Walpole, and Barrington Harrington. Mr. Walpole and Wintrop Kelley, the director, were formerly with the Eclair Company.

Temperature 22 Below Zero.

Milkmen, who are acquainted with the weather conditions in the dark hours of the morning, better than anybody, stated that at one place uptown the mercury registered 22 degrees below the zero point early this morning. At ten o'clock the thermometers on the business streets not exposed to the sunlight showed six degrees above zero. One in the sun registered 45 degrees above at the same time. The part of the uptown section of the city most exposed to attacks from the cold is that above the lowlands, where the snappy breezes are abate.

SOCIETY MATRON WINS ADMIRATION AS GODDESS AT BALL.

Mrs. Thomas appeared as "Art emis" in the Gods of Greece division at the Ball of the Gods, given by the Society of Beaux Arts Architects in New York last week. The divinities of mythology were impersonated by the leaders of society in a gorgeous pageant.

Mrs. Thomas's costume was one of the most striking at the ball. It was cloth of silver combined with mauve, lavender and blue chiffon. The coat was of silver mail and the silver armlets were studded with blue stones.

Book for Household Hints.

A separate book should be kept for household hints. These, too, should be placed in alphabetical order. If the housewife pursues this policy she will find her scrap book a great aid and comfort, for she can turn to it whenever necessary with the assurance that the desired knowledge will always be there.

Graded Unhappiness.

Tears are the showers that fertilize this world; and memory of things precious keepeth warm the heart that once did hold them. They are poor that have lost nothing; they are poorer far who, losing, have forgotten; they most poor of all, who lose and wish they might forget.—Ingelow.

Prices Peculiarly Graded.

A Boston man found at a coal emporium in that city a chap who managed to infuse a degree of fustian into the transaction. "How much is chestnut coal?" timidly inquired the prospective customer. "That depends," said the salesman. "A la carte, it's eight dollars; cul-de-sac, it will cost you 50 cents extra."

Milk on Leather.

Rub leather chairs with a little fresh milk to prevent cracks in the leather. Do this about once a week. Whiting spread on a damp flannel cloth will remove all spots from painted wood without hurting the surface and without tiring the arm which applies it.

NEW WAIST FACTORY NEEDS MORE HELP

Kingston's latest industry, the Bostonian Waist Company, Inc., which recently took over the plant formerly occupied by the Ulster Knitting Mill on lower Hasbrouck avenue, is now running with seventy-five employees at work. The new concern which is owned by M. Morgan and M. Elzufen of New York city, devotes its entire output to ladies' waists. Mr. Morgan, who is in charge of the factory, said today that they are pleased with the outlook in Kingston and that when the plant is running full force they will employ at least one hundred and twenty-five people. They are advertising for more help at the present time.

SPRING ADV. WRITING.

REACHING out for Spring trade is now the order among live merchants. Let me show you that newspaper readers always appreciate the unusual in advertising. A little clever ingenuity in display, combined with a tactfully worded appeal such as I employ, can be made to reach the eye and hold the attention of many readers who might not be otherwise interested. Why not give my advertising service a trial? George M. Zelmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

RAILROADS MAKE PLEA FOR HIGHER PASSENGER FARES

Hudson Valley Cities Represented at Opening of Case Before Public Service Commission at Albany—Increase Essential to Service.

Representatives of the Hudson Valley cities and of the railroads serving these municipalities were numerous figures today before the Public Service Commission of the second district at Albany where proceedings were begun to test the reasonableness of the new schedule of passenger rates filed December 1st by the railroads and suspended by the commission pending this hearing on protests.

With the mayors of cities of the Hudson Valley, Mayor Mitchell of New York has enlisted the legal forces of the greater city and various commercial bodies also have sent representatives to Albany today. Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., with Acting Corporation Counsel W. D. Brinnier, Jr., appeared for the city of Kingston.

In behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Attorney Arthur C. Connelly has filed a memorandum with the commission setting forth the Chamber's suggestion as to the propriety of tilting commutation rates into New York city rather than the two cent fare rate.

The rates show a part of the loss upon which the railroads lay emphasis these should be revised; if they show a gain then there is no ground for raising the two cent fare already considerably higher are two points made by the Chamber which claims discrimination is thus exhibited.

Attention is also called by the cities generally to the fact that the proposed increase of from two to two and one-half cents a mile applies only to the Hudson Valley lines whereas the two cent rate on the Central lines west of Albany cannot be changed because of charter limitations to the two cent rate.

Railroad attorneys prepared today to submit testimony calculated to prove that the readjustment of passenger fares to a uniform basis of 2½ cents a mile is absolutely necessary if the present grade of service is to be continued.

Chief points made by the railroads is that passenger-carrying is unprofitable under present conditions; that operation cost including taxes and wages has increased enormously; in right of way and improvements have remained stationary or decreased; returns do not justify further investment; the Interstate Commerce Commission has ruled that passenger service must pay its fair share of expense; economies in equipment or service unpopular; local passenger receipts within state do not pay.

Increases in cost of equipment, labor and other items are enumerated at length in the railroad brief in behalf of the increase. In opening their case the railroads declared the question at issue to be:

"Shall the railroads be permitted to do what the Interstate Commerce Commission has told them to do?" The same passenger fare schedule which has been held up since December 1 in New York was passed without objection by the Interstate Commerce Commission and is now in effect in interstate travel. In fact, every railroad except the New York Central already is collecting the 2½ cent-per-mile rate to New York state points, this being legal on the lines that cross New Jersey and thereby make an interstate trip.

E. Canfield and others of the delegation. Other important business is on the program.

Fire on a Battleship.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—It was learned today that quick work by the sailors on the battleship North Dakota at the Philadelphia navy yard saved the ship from serious damage by fire last night. The fire was started by a blow-out of a fuse in the dynamo of the engine room but at the sound of the alarm the sailors jumped from their bunks and extinguished the blaze before it could make any headway.

Desert of Sand and Rock.

The greatest desert in the world, the Sahara, is about as large as the United States and Alaska together.

The sand areas in the desert are somewhat larger than Alaska, and the rocky tablelands forming most of the desert are somewhat smaller than the United States. In other words, the Sahara is made up of about 700,000 square miles of sand and 2,800,000 square miles of rock surface.

DURANTO, RING THIEF, CAUGHT

Tony Duranto, a bad Italian, who has just completed a term in the penitentiary at Blackwell's Island, is in the county jail on a charge of robbery in the first degree committed last September in the town of Marletown.

Late in September Nicholas Demaro, who conducts a saloon on Broadway, accepted the invitation of several Italians to participate in an auto ride in the country. Nicholas has a handsome and valuable ring, valued at $287, which the other Italians had their eyes on during the trip. While on the Marletown road one of them asked Demaro to allow him to try on the ring. Demaro consented and as the other Italian was admiring the jewel the auto was seized with machine trouble and came to a halt. Demaro and another descended from the car to see what was the matter and while they were investigating, the chauffeur started up, leaving the owner far from his valued ring.

Tony Duranto got in another scrap in New York city and landed in the pen at Blackwell's Island, where he was located by the local authorities and at the completion of his term was brought to the jail. He says he can locate the ring, which he says is in New Orleans now, having kept track of it in its journey. Duranto was given a hearing before a justice of the peace at Marletown at the court house this afternoon.

HER FAITH KNOWS NO CHILL.

Baptized in icy Waters of Hudson
While Blizzard Raged.

Miss Thomas Oliver's unbounded faith in Christianity was demonstrated Sunday afternoon at Highland Beach, when, in the face of a forty mile an hour snow storm, she waded into the river through a hole cut in the ice and stood there several minutes, the water up to her neck, while Elder Charles Walker baptized her a Christian. The she was accepted into membership in the Church of God and Saints of Christ.

Once during the ceremony she was completely submerged in the water. Then she stood with the dripping water forming into icicles as Elder Walker, assisted by Deacon William Mitchell, completed the ceremony, which was witnessed by fifty spectators. Afterward the members of the party were taken to a warm room and after being thoroughly dried completed the ceremony with the feet washing, one of the main features.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1522—A Simple but Attractive Style for Home or Business Wear—Ladies' House or Home Dress, With Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

As here shown, striped gingham, in blue and white, was used, with white luene for trimming. The waist and skirt are cut on simple lines, with front closing; deep pockets trim the skirt, and a broad collar finishes the waist. One sleeve is dart fitted in wrist length and is finished with a neat cuff. In short length a turn back cuff forms a suitable trimming. This style is good for all wash fabrics, also for taffeta, poplin, serge, corduroy, voile and velvet. In blue serge with facings of blue or black satin, it would make a splendid business dress. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 33 yards at its lower edge.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Feb. 15.—No one ever thought of quiet, unassuming John L.—otherwise known as Ike—Dorgan, and there's a whole lot of folks who won't believe it until they gather in all the details of how he jumped in four brief months from obscurity to the fame as the greatest financier since the days of Adam and Little Eva.

Until last September, Ike's only claim to greatness was the fact that he was a mighty good newspaper writer and the brother of T. Aloysius Dorgan, known throughout the civilized world—and Chicago—as Tad, the cartoonist. And then Fate ruled that Ike should encounter Frank Moran, pugilist, just at a moment when the aforesaid Frank was wearing a woe-begone expression.

"Unburden yourself—what's wrong?" commanded the sympathetic Ike. "Tis a cruel, cruel world we live in," sighed the blond battler. "Here's me in what may be termed a helluva fix. I've fought 42 battles and yet in all those battles my total income hadn't been much more than $6,000. I see by the papers that lots and lots of dub scrappers get that much—and more—for one battle."

"What you need is a manager," advised Ike, whereupon Moran sighed again. "That's just it," said he. "I need a manager—but I don't want one. Practically every one I've had has trimmed me. I said I got only $6,000 or so for those 42 scraps. That's true. But I've earned over $50,000. The other $54,000 got into the hands of my managers—and I never saw it again."

"Then manage yourself," suggested Ike. "I've tried to and I find that those darned promoters take advantage of my good nature and run me down so low on my original demands that before I get through talking with them I feel as if I ought to pay them to let me fight in their clubs."

"Well, then, it seems to me that you need a guardian," put in Ike.

"Will you take the job?" asked Moran.

Ike Renders First Aid. "Handling fighters is a new game to me," said Ike. "Furthermore, I'm busy as a newspaper guy. I ain't got much time to monkey with fighters. But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll try to get a bout for you at a fair price. I'll show you how it is done. Watch me closely. Afterward you can go on handling yourself, using my system."

Well, Ike approached Billy Gibson, manager for Jim Coffey, and boldly declared that Frank Moran could whale the consciousness out of the scrappers with the leverage name. This vexed Gibson, who forthwith rushed to all the newspapers and declared that Coffey could beat up any person in the wide, wide world. Ike influenced Moran to visit various newspaper shops to deny the truth of Gibson's assertions and very soon afterward Jimmy Johnson, promoter, sought out Moran and Coffey and wanted to match them up—at his own figures.

Johnson offered Moran a sum in keeping with the amounts previously earned by Moran. The blond battler was on the point of accepting, when Ike Dorgan loomed up in the office, learned of Johnson's offer, and said: "Nix, nix, Jimmy; this boy Moran fights for a certain percentage or he don't fight at all."

Ike Gets Moran $6,900.

Johnson demurred—but Ike was obdurate. The public demanded a Coffey-Moran bout and rather than let some other promoter grab it, Johnson reluctantly met the demands of Ike Dorgan.

Moran's share for that first Coffey fight was $6,900 and when the money was placed in the hands of Moran he promptly fainted. When he revived, Ike said to him:

"That's the way to do it, my boy; now I'm going back to my newspaper work. I wish you much joy."

But Moran wouldn't let Ike go back. He clung to Ike and insisted that Ike should be his manager. He pleaded with Ike—and finally Ike consented.

In December Moran and Coffey were rematched. Ike calmly but firmly demanded a bigger percentage for Moran than had been guaranteed for the first fight. Johnson again objected—but finally capitulated.

$9,000 For Next Fight.

In his second fight with Coffey, the Pittsburgh battler duplicated his first feat—scored a knockout and when he hustled into his dressing room Moran found $9,900 waiting for him—the largest amount of money he ever had seen in his life.

"Is this mine?" gasped Moran. "It is," answered Dorgan.

Ammonia was used to revive Moran.

And then came the greatest feat in the meteoric career of Ike Dorgan, Prize Fight Manager Extraordinary.

As soon as Moran beat Coffey for the second time, there was a scramble among promoters anxious to frame a Willard-Moran bout. Various fight club promoters cluttered up the hallways leading to Ike Dorgan's quarters and asked him what he wanted as a guarantee for Moran.

"What is your best offer?" was the answer.

"$10,000 for Moran," said one.

"Begone," said Ike, in scorn.

"$12,000," chirped another.

"Beat it—you cheap skate," commanded Ike.

At this juncture Moran cut in.

"Ike, $12,000 is $12,000," he said.

"Mebbe those fellows will get mad at you and me and won't come back and then we won't get anything. I'll fight Willard for $12,000."

"$20,000—Or Nothing"—Ike.

"Not if I know it," snapped Ike. "Twenty thousand bucks is what they've got to pay us."

Moran gasped.

"But they won't do it, Ike; they won't do it. Don't you think, Ike, that we ought to accept that $12,000. That's a awful lot of money for 30 minutes work."

"Twenty thousand is more," was the answer. "They've got to have you to fight Willard or the fight will fizzle. We've got them where we want them. And if they don't hurry and slip us $20,000 we'll increase our demands to $25,000."

"But $12,000 is $12,000—"

"Silence," roared Ike. "$20,000 or nothing—that's our motto."

What Dorgan Accomplished.

On March 17th, Frank Moran will get $20,000—and no less—for meeting Jess Willard in a ten round bout in New York.

The $20,000 guarantee made to Moran for that bout is the largest ever given to a non-champion in the history of the prize-ring; the total of $26,000 for three fights within six months is the largest ever earned by a non-champion since pugilism began.

And Ike Dorgan, little more than a novice, is the man who has made it possible for Moran to achieve these two wonderful records.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.

By Telegraph in The Freeman

Chicago, Feb. 15.—It was practically certain today that there will be no fight between Jess Willard and Frank Moran at Madison Square Garden in New York on March 8. Steps are being taken which probably will result in postponement of the contest for two weeks. A definite decision will be reached today.

Willard's physical condition is the cause. The champion, for several days has been fighting a severe cold which has settled in his throat, but has found it a stubborn foe not responsive to treatment. Several days last week Willard was forced to lay off in his training. He felt slightly improved Saturday and resumed work but did not display the pep that has always marked his training.

Yesterday, when the members of the club gathered to see the champion in action, Willard was absent. One of those close to Willard said today that Jess had been complaining of a pain in his chest in addition to the sore throat. According to the man who gave this information, the champion is in no condition to train for a fight and will not be for several days.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—John Paul Jones, former Cornell University runner, who held the intercollegiate mile record, and the fastest mark for a competitive mile, will no retire from athletics. Jones, who resides in Evanston, has accepted a membership in the Illinois Athletic Club.

The old Cornell star was reported as having said he would leave athletics in order to concentrate on his business.

New York, Feb. 15.—The national Cycling Association has suspended all the bicycle riders who took part in the recent race in Chicago. Twenty-seven professionals are included in the list.

New Orleans, Feb. 15.—Freddie Welsh will meet either Johnny Dundee or Joe Mandot in a bout for the lightweight championship during Mardi Gras week, according to Dominick Tortoris, manager of the Louisiana Auditorium. Welsh will receive $13,000 and traveling and training expenses.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—Beals Becker, utility outfielder of the Phillies, has been given his unconditional release.

New York, Feb. 15.—Tex Richard and Sam McCracken, promoters of the Willard-Moran fight expect to clear $30,000 on the bout. They figure their expenses at $115,500 and receipts at $145,000. Seats will be provided for 12,000 and the price will range from $3 to $25.

KYSERIKE.

Kyserike, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Edward Dormus returned home Friday after spending several weeks in Philadelphia.

L. Atkins spent Friday in Kingston.

Arthur Deputy is spending most of his evenings at Alligerville. It is rumored he is to star in a play to be given in that place in the near future.

Peter S. Roosa is very ill with the typhoid fever. Drs. Johnston and Kemble of Kingston are attending him.

Emmett Van Demark visited with friends at Alligerville Saturday evening.

S. R. Christopher has purchased a new Hudson car. We expect to see Mr. Christopher on the speedway in the near future.

Friend Bush and Orpha Silkworth were united in marriage by the Rev. W. H. Seiple of Alligerville on Wednesday past.

L. J. Haines was a county seat visitor on Saturday.

Edward DeWitt is spending some time in New York city.

Simon Yeaple and Cyrus Deputy have been engaged in overhauling automobiles for different parties in this vicinity.

Erastus Beatty of Stone Ridge has purchased the wood lot of John Merritt and has begun cutting timber.

Some of our popular young men on returning from Alligerville, where they had been practicing for an entertainment, stayed so late "the sandman" must have gotten in their eyes" as they drove in their neighbor's garden thinking they were still on the road. Boys, wake up and go home earlier next time.

Cyrus Deputy and Edward DeWitt attended the dance in the L. O. F.

Hall at Accord on Tuesday night past.

The store of William Van Demark burned to the ground about noon on Wednesday. As soon as the fire was discovered Mr. and Mrs. Van Demark rushed in the burning building and secured a desk which contained valuable papers. A few other articles were saved. Many people came to help when they heard the alarm of fire and succeeded in saving the other buildings which were very close to the store. If the buildings had been dry the entire group would have been burned. The store was a two-story building and was well filled. The loss is estimated at $800. A few from this place attended the party at William Oakley's at Acorn Hill Tuesday evening.

Game and Dance.

Tomorrow night the fast Peerless five will line up against the Holy Cross team at the Holy Cross parish house. The Peerless five seem to be a hoode to the Holy Cross because they have defeated them by the point in both contests between the two teams earlier in the season. Both games were fast and exciting, and tomorrow night another fast and interesting contest will be fought. Dancing will follow the game as usual with good music.

To the Man in the Trench.

For only in the mass is war vast. To the man in the trench it reduces itself to the man on his right, the man on his left, the man across, beyond the barbed wire, and a woman—Mary Roberts Rinehart in Saturday Evening Post.

Consumers Prefer to Buy Articles Advertised in This Paper.

Advertising is the most potent factor of the age in educating consumers.

This education has proven of great advantage to consumers, because they can now make their purchases with intelligence and absolute security.

They know that the manufacturer who puts his name or trademark brand on an article and advertises it must maintain its quality.

It is an established fact that advertising helps manufacturers build a reputation for their products, but, to sustain the reputation, the quality must be maintained.

Advertised products are therefore, in a sense, a protection to the consumer.

They are a guarantee of uniform and permanent quality.

Be on the safe side. Always buy advertised products; ask for them by trademark name or by name of manufacturer.

Remember this—Every time you go to the store to buy soap, perfume, household medicine, paint, varnish, automobile tires, food products, chewing gum, cosmetics, underwear, shirts, collars, shoes, hair tonic, tooth paste or powders, grape juice or soda fountain drinks, etc., etc., whatever you want, ASK FOR IT BY NAME of manufacturer or trademark name, and insist on getting it.

Do not accept substitutes.

COLD AGGRAVATES SUFFERING OF POOR

Grip Epidemic Has Left Many Suffering Ones, Whose Position is Made Worse by Zero Weather and Who Need Prompt Assistance.

There is nothing like zero weather to bring home to the comfortably clothed, comfortably clad man or woman the suffering which exists at such a time among those who are less fortunate, and there are plenty of cases in Kingston needing help which the present cold weather has forced into prominence.

Sick With The Grip—One Picture.

Kingston has had a severe epidemic of grip throughout the winter and the epidemic is not ended. The average man or woman who has the grip consults his or her doctor—perhaps the doctor makes one or more calls at the home of the patient, or else purchases grip medicine at a drug store, and then goes home and in nine cases out of ten goes to bed and remains there from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Everyone else in the house shares willingly the extra duties imposed during the patient's illness.

After the first severe effects of the grip have been removed by medical aid, there remains with the patient a feeling of laziness or grouchiness—sometimes both, with accompanying pains, aches and a dozen or more other unusual feelings, but comfort, proper food and cheerful surroundings all combine to bring the patient out of the discomfort characteristic of the grip, and at the end of four or five days the patient resumes the ordinary duties of daily life, although the after-effects of the grip may remain for several weeks.

Sick With The Grip—Another Picture.

There is another picture presented in more than one home in Kingston today. There is no money with which to purchase medicine, the quantity of fuel is no larger than the quantity of food, warm bed-clothing is lacking, and the art of nursing is unknown. There may be children in the family who for weeks have been insufficiently clad and insufficiently nourished. The house may contain one stove which is incapable of holding properly the small fire which can be afforded because it is broken. In some cases there may be typhoid or other contagious diseases among one or more members of the family, and the ordinary means of support have been shut off through the quarantine established on all members of the family for the protection of every other man and woman in Kingston. Or these conditions may have ceased recently, and the family still may be suffering because the quarantine on the family has resulted in loss of employment of the bread-winners.

Neither of these pictures is overdrawn. It is not difficult to find the original of the first picture in any one of a hundred homes in Kingston; the second picture is the original setting for the second picture in many more homes than most of the comfortably-housed Kingstonians will imagine is possible.

Where Official Aid is Limited.

Public funds are used to some extent in alleviating the suffering described in families which through force of circumstances are unable to care for themselves as they should be cared for. The Department of Charities is able to relieve the suffering to some extent, but there are certain things which the law forbids the department from doing. The Board of Health is able in a limited way to assist in care of some of the patients, but the duty of that board principally in the direction of protection to every other citizen, and to safeguard the citizens who are free from contagious and infectious diseases from those who are not free from them.

What Private Effort Must Do.

After both of the city boards mentioned have performed to the full extent allowed by law their duties to such families, there remains a condition which still commands attention. Warm, clean bedding for invalids who in some cases have not known ordinary bedding for several years, is needed and some one must supply it; invalids need something more than one loan which may be furnished by the Department of Charities; children need warm clothing to replace the almost thread-bare shreds of last summer's suit; employment must be sought for those whose employment has been lost through the protective measures of quarantine required for safeguarding the citizens who are not ill or who have been compelled to leave their work to take up nursing in their homes and later have found their places filled by other workers.

How Everyone Can Help.

All this and more has been undertaken by the Bureau of Social Service, whose work has been marked by success, but as long as the winter remains there will be additional duties as well as a continuation of the work already undertaken to be performed. Gifts of all kinds have been used to the best possible advantage, and will continue to be so used, but beside material gifts the bureau is in need of money. The bureau does not seek money always in the form of gifts, but is desirous that every Kingstonian who feels capable of contributing to the work should do so in a way by which the feeling of personal obligation may be created in each contributor. To accomplish this result, the bureau would remind every Kingstonian that membership in the bureau may be obtained through the payment of one dollar per year annual dues. A sustaining membership may be had on payment of five dollars annual dues, and larger contributions of course will at all times be acceptable.

PYTHIAN DISTRICT CONVENTION HELD

Notable Gathering of Knights From This City and Surrounding Villages Greeted Supreme Chancellor and Grand Chancellor.

The district convention of the Knights of Pythias of the Fifteenth district was held in Pythian Hall, this city, on Monday night, and proved to be one of the most important events in Pythian circles ever held in this section.

The presence of Supreme Chancellor Brig. S. Young was of great importance and his able address was hailed with delight by the large number of Pythian brothers present. The Hon. Clarence McGregor, the grand chancellor of the state of New York, also gave an inspiring talk, as did State Field Deputy William S. Clem. The presence of three such distinguished Pythians at a Pythian convention is one of very rare occurrence and the Knights of Pythias of the Fifteenth district can justly feel proud in being able to entertain the above named brothers.

Large delegations were present from Middletown, New Paltz, Saugerties, Port Jervis, Kerhonkson and Highland and District Deputy William C. O'Leary of Saugerties, who had the convention in charge, is to be congratulated upon the able manner in which he conducted the same. The address of welcome on behalf of the Pythians of the district was made by Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., which elicited everything previously given along lines of a similar character.

The exemplification of the rank of Knight on several Esquires by the degree team of Franklin Lodge brought forth much praise from all present, as Franklin Lodge stands very high in the state of New York in their ability in conferring the ranks of Knighthood.

The Standard of Service

THIS great railroad system is owned by 30,000 stockholders. It is operated by their chosen officers for the public service.

It gives employment to 150,000 workers, to whom it pays $118,780,000 annually in wages. For supplies bought from the public it pays out in addition $96,429,454. For taxes alone, $14,293,000 and in interest and dividends on stocks, bonds and other securities held by the public it distributes $43,784,000, making a total annual disbursement in which the public has a direct interest of $273,286,454.

These railroad lines and their owners, the communities they reach, the millions they serve, and the workers they employ, all have the closest mutual interests.

The more these mutual interests are understood and furthered, the greater the degree of service rendered. To be a faithful, efficient, punctual and dependable public servant, to make every branch of its service the best possible, is the ideal and standard of

"Midwinter Madness" is the appropriate title of the play they are engaged in and it shows Indians, Forest Rangers and Blood Curdling Adventure.

The diversified scenery in the vicinity of Kingston is again being used to stage moving picture plays, a group of fourteen players of the Universal Film Company being engaged for several days in this vicinity, making their headquarters at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Last year pictures of the floating ice scenes in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were taken at the Rondout creek, but this season the managers have decided to stage a thrilling screen tale of the Canadian northwest in the fields of Rosendale and with the picturesque Ashokan reservoir as scenarios. The reservoir is an ideal location for staging movies but the old Catskills sink in the background with the towering Rockies. However, the movie men, like other modern American business men, are gifted with the power of magnification.

"Midwinter Madness" is the topic of the drama being produced in these lands and if the operators can only get "15 below zero" signs somewhere in the pictures, they will be presenting a true picturization of the conditions under which the actors do their performing. This morning about nine o'clock they left the Stuyvesant in an auto for the scene, attired in the garb of cold-blooded Indians, forest rangers, etc. The picture will feature Miss Dorothy Phillips, a popular young star, Stanley Walpole, and Barrington Barringer. Mr. Walpole and Winthrop Kelley, the director, were formerly with the Eclair Company.

Temperature 22 Below Zero.

Milkmen, who are acquainted with the weather conditions in the dark hours of the morning better than anybody, stated that at one place up the mercury registered 22 degrees below the zero point early this morning. At ten o'clock the thermometers on the business streets not exposed to the sunlight showed six degrees above zero. One in the sun registered 45 degrees above at the same time. The part of the uptown section of the city most exposed to attacks from the cold is that above the lowlands, where the snappy breezes are aloft.

SOCIETY MATRON WINS ADMIRATION AS GODDESS AT BALL.

Mrs. Thomas appeared as "Artemis" in the Gods of Greece division at the Ball of the Gods, given by the Society of Beaux Arts Architects in New York last week. The divinities of mythology were impersonated by the leaders of society in a gorgeous pageant.

Mrs. Thomas's costume was one of the most striking at the ball. It was cloth of silver combined with mauve, lavender and blue chiffon. The coat was of silver mail and the silver armlets were studded with blue stones.

Book for Household Hints.

A separate book should be kept for household hints. These, too, should be placed in alphabetical order. If the housewife pursues this policy she will find her scrap book a great aid and comfort, for she can turn to it whenever necessary with the assurance that the desired knowledge will all ways be there.

Graded Unhappiness.

Tears are the showers that fertilize this world; and memory of things precious keepeth warm the heart that once did hold them. They are poor or far who, losing, have forgotten; they most poor of all, who lose and wish they might forget.—Jagelow.

Milk on Leather.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Feb. 15.—No one ever thought it of quiet, unassuming John L.—otherwise known as Ike—Dorgan, and there's a whole lot of folks who won't believe it until they gather in all the details of how he jumped in four brief months from obscurity to the fame as the greatest financier since the days of Adam and Little Eva.

Until last September, Ike's only claim to greatness was the fact that he was a mighty good newspaper writer and the brother of T. Aloysius Dorgan, known throughout the civilized world—and Chicago—as Tad, the cartoonist. And then Fate ruled that Ike should encounter Frank Moran, pugilist, just at a moment when the aforesaid Frank was wearing a woe-begone expression.

"Unburden your self—what's wrong?" commanded the sympathetic Ike.

"Tis a cruel, cruel world we live in," sighed the blond battler. "Here's me in what may be termed a helluva fix. I've fought 42 battles and yet in all those battles my total income hasn't been much more than $6,000. I see by the papers that lots and lots of dub scrappers get that much—and more—for one battle."

"What you need is a manager," advised Ike, whereupon Moran sighed again.

Moran's Sad Tale.

"That's just it," said he. "I need a manager—but I don't want one. Practically every one I've had has trimmed me. I said I got only $6,000 or so for those 42 scraps. That's true. But I've earned over $60,000. The other $54,000 got into the hands of my managers—and I never saw it again."

"Then manage yourself," suggested Ike.

"I've tried to and I find that those damned promoters take advantage of my good nature and run me down so low on my original demands that before I get through talking with them I feel as if I ought to pay them to let me fight in their clubs."

"Well, then, it seems to me that you need a guardian," put in Ike.

"Will you take the job?" asked Moran.

Ike Readers First Aid.

"Handling fighters is a new game to me," said Ike. "Furthermore, I'm busy as a newspaper guy. I ain't got much time to monkey with fighters. But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll try to get a bout for you at a fair price. I'll show you how it is done. Watch me closely. Afterward you can go on handling yourself, using my system."

Well, Ike approached Billy Gibson, manager for Jim Coffey, and boldly declared that Frank Moran could while the consciousness out of the scrapper with the leverage name. This vexed Gibson who forthwith rushed to all the newspapers and declared that Coffey could beat up any person in the wide, wide world. Ike influenced Moran to visit various newspaper shops to deny the truth of Gibson's assertions and very soon afterward Jimmy Johnson, promoter, sought out Moran and Coffey and wanted to match them up—at his own figures.

Johnson offered Moran a sum in keeping with the amounts previously earned by Moran. The blond battler was on the point of accepting, when Ike Dorgan loomed up in the office, learned of Johnson's offer, and said:

"Nix, nix, Jimmy; this boy Moran fights for a certain percentage or he don't fight at all."

Ike Gets Moran $6,000.

Johnson demurred—but Ike was obdurate. The public demanded a Coffey-Moran bout and rather than let some other promoter grab it, Johnson reluctantly met the demands of Ike Dorgan.

Moran's share for that first Coffey fight was $6,000 and when the money was placed in the hands of Moran he promptly fainted. When he revived, Ike said to him:

"That's the way to do it, my boy; now I'm going back to my newspaper work. I wish you much joy."

But Moran wouldn't let Ike go back. He clung to Ike and insisted that Ike should be his manager. He pleaded with Ike—and finally Ike consented.

In December Moran and Coffey were rematched. Ike calmly but firmly demanded a bigger percentage for Moran than had been guaranteed for the first fight. Johnson again objected—but finally capitulated.

$9,994 For Next Fight.

In his second fight with Coffey, the Pittsburgh battler duplicated his first feat—scored a knockout and when he hustled into his dressing room Moran found $9,994 waiting for him—the largest amount of money he ever had seen in his life.

"Is this mine?" gasped Moran.

"It is," answered Dorgan.

Ammonia was used to revive Moran.

And then came the greatest feat in the meteoric career of Ike Dorgan. Prize Fight Manager Extraordinary.

As soon as Moran beat Coffey for the second time, there was a scramble among promoters anxious to frame a Willard-Moran bout. Various fight club promoters chattered up the hallways leading to Ike Dorgan's quarters and asked him what he wanted

as a guarantee for Moran.

"What is your best offer?" was the answer.

"$10,000 for Moran," said one.

"Begone," said Ike, in scorn.

"$12,000," chirped another.

"Begone—your cheap skate," commanded Ike.

At this juncture Moran cut in.

"Ike, $12,000 is $12,000," he said. "Mebbe those fellows will get mad at you and me and won't come back and then we won't get anything. I'll fight Willard for $12,000."

"$20,000—Or Nothing"—Ike.

"Not if I know it," snapped Ike. "Twenty thousand bucks is what they've got to pay us."

Moran gasped.

"But they won't do it, Ike; they won't do it. Don't you think, Ike, that we oughta accept that $12,000. That's an awful lot of money for 20 minutes' work."

"Twenty thousand is more," was the answer. "They've got to have you to fight Willard or the fight will fizzle. See? We've got them where we want them. And if they don't hurry and slip us $20,000 we'll increase our demands to $25,000."

"But $12,000 is $12,000—"

"Silence," roared Ike. "$20,000 or nothing—that's our motto."

What Dorgan Accomplished.

On March 17th, Frank Moran will get $20,000—and no less—for meeting Jess Willard in a ten round bout in New York.

The $20,000 guarantee made to Moran for that bout is the largest ever given to a non-champion in the history of the prize-ring; the total of $26,000 for three fights within six months is the largest ever earned by a non-champion since pugilism began.

And Ike Dorgan, little more than a novice, is the man who has made it possible for Moran to achieve these two wonderful records.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—It was practically certain today that there will be no fight between Jess Willard and Frank Moran at Madison Square Garden in New York on March 8. Steps are being taken which probably will result in postponement of the contest for two weeks. A definite decision will be reached today.

Willard's physical condition is the cause. The champion, for several days has been fighting a severe cold which has settled in his throat, but has found it a stubborn foe not responsive to treatment. Several days last week Willard was forced to lay off in his training. He felt slightly improved Saturday and resumed work but did not display the pep that has always marked his training.

Yesterday, when the members of the club gathered to see the champion in action, Willard was absent. One of those close to Willard said today that Jess had been complaining of a pain in his chest in addition to the sore throat. According to the man who gave this information, the champion is in no condition to train for a fight and will not be for several days.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—JOHN Paul Jones, former Cornell University runner, who held the intercollegiate mile record, and the fastest mark for a competitive mile, will no retire from athletics. Jones, who resides in Evanston, has accepted a membership in the Illinois Athletic Club.

The old Cornell star was reported as having said he would leave athletics in order to concentrate on his business.

New York, Feb. 15.—The national Cycling Association has suspended all the bicycle riders who took part in the recent race in Chicago. Twenty-seven professionals are included in the list.

New Orleans, Feb. 15.—Freddie Welsh will meet either Johnny Dundee or Joe Mandot in a bout for the lightweight championship during Mardi Gras week, according to Dominick Tortoris, manager of the Louisiana Auditorium. Welsh will receive $12,000 and traveling and training expenses.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—Beals Becker, utility outfielder of the Phillies, has been given his unconditional release.

New York, Feb. 15.—Tex Richard and Sam McCracken, promoters of the Willard-Moran fight expect to clear $30,000 on the bout. They figure their expenses at $115,500 and receipts at $145,000. Seats will be provided for 12,000 and the price will range from $3 to $25.

KYSERIKE.

Kyserike, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Edward Dormus returned home Friday after spending several weeks in Philadelphia.

L. Atkins spent Friday in Kingston.

Arthur Depuy is spending most of his evenings at Alligerville. It is rumored he is to star in a play to be given at that place in the near future.

Peter S. Roosa is very ill with the typhoid fever. Drs. Johnston and Kemble of Kingston are attending him.

Emmett Van Demark visited with friends at Alligerville Saturday evening.

S. R. Christopher has purchased a new Hudson car. We expect to see Mr. Christopher on the speedway in the near future.

Friend Bush and Orpha Silkworth were united in marriage by the Rev. W. H. Seiple of Alligerville on Wednesday past.

L. J. Haines was a county seat visitor on Saturday.

Edward DeWitt is spending some time in New York city.

Simon Yeaple and Cyrus Depuy have been engaged in overhauling automobiles for different parties in this vicinity.

Erastus Beatty of Stone Ridge has purchased the wood lot of John Merritt and has begun cutting timber.

Some of our popular young men on returning from Alligerville, where they had been practicing for an entertainment, stared so late "the sandman must have gotten in their eyes" as they drove in their neighbor's garden thinking they were still on the road. Boys, wake up and go home earlier next time.

Cyrus Depuy and Edward DeWitt attended the dance in the I. O. O. F.

Hall at Accord on Tuesday night past.

The store of William Van Demark burned to the ground about noon on Wednesday. As soon as the fire was discovered Mr. and Mrs. Van Demark rushed in the burning building and secured a desk which contained valuable papers. A few other articles were saved. Many people came to help when they heard the alarm of fire and succeeded in saving the other buildings which were very close to the store. If the buildings had been dry the entire group would have been burned. The store was a two story building and was well filled. The loss is estimated at $800. A few from this place attended the party at William Oakley's at Acorn Hill Tuesday evening.

Game and Dance.

Tomorrow night the fast Peerless five will line up against the Holy Cross team at the Holy Cross parish house. The Peerless five seem to be a hoo doo to the Holy Cross because they have defeated them by one point in both contests between the two teams earlier in the season. Both games were fast and exciting, and tomorrow night another fast and interesting contest will be fought. Dancing will follow the game as usual with good music.

"They Didn't Change the Telephone, They Changed the Service"

"It's an individual line telephone now, and instead of being on a line with a number of other telephone users, we have one line to the telephone central office for our exclusive use."

It costs only a few cents more a day than Party Line Telephone Service, too.

If you share a Party Line with others, let our Commercial Office tell you about Individual Line Telephone Service.

That nerve racking headache is caused, perhaps, NOT by your glasses, but by your eyes. Instead of taking medicine, etc., would you favor us with a visit and have us examine your eyes?

Perhaps a pair of correctly fitting glasses will bring you real relief and restore the vision in time to its natural state.
